Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

Scope of the Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

This Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures applies to any matter relevant to the training and assessment services provided by Partners in Training, including academic and non-academic matters, involving the conduct of:

- Partners in Training, Partners in Training's trainers and assessors or other Partners in Training staff members;
- a third party (including the personnel of a third party) providing services on Partners in Training's behalf;
- a student or prospective student of Partners in Training; and
- an assessment decision made by Partners in Training's trainers and assessors.

A complaint or appeal may be made by any affected stakeholder of Partners in Training in relation to the conduct of the persons listed above.

Grounds for a complaint or appeal

The grounds giving rise to a complaint or appeal (being a request for a review of decision) by a stakeholder may include, but is not limited to:

- a failure to adhere to Partners in Training's policies and procedures;
- a failure to adhere to a regulatory requirement;
- improper or negligent conduct of any person, including bullying;
- unfair treatment, prejudice or bias; or
- a decision being made without sufficient consideration of facts, evidence or circumstances.

Grounds for an assessment appeal

The grounds giving rise to an assessment appeal arising from a decision made by Partners in Training to a final assessment grade, mark or result, of a student may include, but is not limited to:

- the student was affected by the assessment decision made without sufficient consideration of facts, evidence or circumstances;
- the student was affected by improper or negligent conduct, including bullying, whilst undertaking the assessment;
- the learning and assessment tasks were not clearly explained to the student; or
- the student's work was submitted in a timely manner but was allegedly not received and/or marked by the assessor.

Complaints and appeals procedure

The procedures set out below will be followed to manage and respond to all complaints and appeals.

At all times during the complaints and appeals process, the following principles of procedural fairness and natural justice must be followed:

- All persons must act in good faith and seek at all times to achieve an amicable resolution.
- All persons must be provided with an opportunity to respond to the complaint or appeal.

Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

- All complaints and appeals must be investigated and decided by a Partners in Training employee who is independent of the complaint or appeal.
- A person must not be subject to reprisals for making or participating in the complaint or appeal in good faith.
- A person must not be subject to adverse action until the complaint or appeal process has come to an end.
- All persons may request access to all records relevant to the complaint or appeal in accordance with the Privacy Policy and Procedures.
- All persons have the right to a support person during any stage of the complaint or appeal process (a support person is only an observer who shall not speak unless requested by a person directly involved in the complaint or appeal process).
- All persons may remain anonymous provided it is practicable and appropriate in the circumstances.
- All persons must maintain and respect the privacy and confidentiality of persons involved in and records of the complaint or appeal, except where the release of certain information is required by law. This means that all persons involved in any complaint or appeal should only discuss the complaint or appeal with the persons who have responsibility for dealing with the complaint or appeal, or their nominated support person.

If any complaint or appeal is made against a member of Partners in Training's management, the matter will be taken directly to the Director.

If the Compliance Manager considers that more than sixty (60) calendar days are required to process and finalise the complaint or appeal, the Compliance Manager will:

- inform all persons involved in writing with reasons as to why more than sixty (60) calendar days are required to process and finalise the complaint or appeal; and

Step 1: Preliminary informal action

Before making a formal written complaint or appeal, the complainant should first attempt to try and resolve the matter directly with the persons concerned.

If the complainant believes that their complaint or appeal has not been adequately resolved after discussion with the persons concerned, the complainant should discuss the issues with the designated complaint person at each Campus, such as a Student Support officer.

If the complainant believes that their complaint or appeal has still not been adequately resolved after discussion with the designated complaint person, the complainant may make a formal written complaint or appeal.

If a complainant makes a formal written complaint or appeal without taking preliminary informal action, the Compliance Manager may require the complainant to take preliminary informal action before accepting the formal written complaint or appeal.

Step 2: Making a formal complaint or appeal in writing

All complaints or appeals should be made within thirty (30) calendar days of the occurrence of the circumstances giving rise to the complaint or appeal.

A complainant should submit their complaint or appeal in writing to:

Compliance Manager

complaints@pta.edu.au

Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

When submitting their complaint or appeal, the complainant should provide a clear written statement setting out:

- the persons involved and their relationship to Partners in Training;
- the circumstances and grounds giving rise to the complaint or appeal;
- the complaint or appeal; and
- a suggested solution that the complainant believes will settle their complaint or appeal.

The complainant may request the assistance of a Partners in Training staff member to submit their complaint or appeal.

Step 3: Investigation of a written complaint or appeal

Within five (5) calendar days of receipt of a complaint or appeal, the Compliance Manager will:

- provide a written acknowledgement to the complainant that the complaint or appeal has been received; and
- direct the complaint or appeal to the relevant staff member(s); or
- start to investigate the complaint or appeal with support from the relevant staff members(s), which includes but is not limited to:
 - interviewing the complainant;
 - interviewing relevant staff members, third parties, students or other relevant persons; and/or
 - reviewing any documentation relating to the complaint or appeal.

Step 4: Outcomes of investigation

Within twenty (20) calendar days of providing a written acknowledgement for receiving complaint or appeal, the Compliance Manager will provide an overview and recommended outcomes of the investigation by email, including any actions agreed by the persons involved.

The written reply will be sent to all persons involved in the complaint or appeal setting out the outcomes of the investigation with reasons and any actions agreed by the persons involved. This may include a recommendation that the Compliance Manager is reasonably satisfied that the complaint or appeal is frivolous, malicious or vexatious, and should not be taken any further.

Step 5: Elevation of a written complaint or appeal to the Chief Executive Officer

Close the complaint or appeal

If all parties involved in the complaint or appeal are satisfied with the outcome of the investigation as notified in writing by the Compliance Manager, the complaint or appeal will be closed and will not be taken any further.

If no reply from any parties involved is received after ten (10) calendar days when the Compliance Manager sends the written reply and sets out the outcome of the complaint or appeal, the complaint or appeal will be closed and will not be taken any further.

Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

Elevation

If a person involved in the complaint or appeal is not satisfied with the outcome of the investigation as notified in writing by the Compliance Manager, they may elevate their complaint or appeal to the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent).

1. All elevations of a complaint or appeal should be made within ten (10) calendar days, when the Compliance Manager sends the written notice and sets out the outcome of the complaint or appeal.
2. A complainant must submit their elevated complaint or appeal in writing to:

Compliance Manager

complaints@pta.edu.au

When submitting the elevation of their complaint or appeal, the complainant should provide a clear written statement setting out:

- the reasons why they are not satisfied with the outcome of the investigation as notified in writing by the Compliance Manager; and
- a suggested solution that the complainant believes will settle their complaint or appeal.

The complainant may request the assistance of a Partners in Training staff member to submit their complaint or appeal.

1. Within five (5) calendar days of receipt of the elevation of the complaint or appeal, the Compliance Manager will
 - provide a written acknowledgement to the complainant that the request to elevate the complaint or appeal has been received; and
 - forward the elevated complaint or appeal to the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent).
2. Within twenty (20) calendar days of an elevated complaint or appeal being forwarded, the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent) will provide final written notice to all persons involved in the complaint or appeal setting out the final outcome of the complaint or appeal. This may include written notice that the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent) is reasonably satisfied that the complaint or appeal is frivolous, malicious, or vexatious, and will not be taken any further.

Step 6: Mediation

If a person involved in the complaint or appeal is not satisfied with the outcome of the final investigation as notified in writing by the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent), they may seek mediation of the complaint or appeal by submitting a request for mediation in writing, within thirty (30) calendar days of receipt of the written reply from the CEO, to:

Compliance Manager

complaints@pta.edu.au

Within ten (10) calendar days of receipt of a request to proceed to mediation, the the Chief Executive Officer (or Director where the Chief Executive Officer is not independent) will determine whether mediation is practicable and appropriate in the circumstances and either:

Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures

- obtain the written consent of all persons to proceed to mediation (including consent to the applicable costs) and notify all persons that the matter is proceeding to mediation if consent is obtained, or
- advise all persons that the Chief Executive Officer is reasonably satisfied that mediation would not be practicable nor appropriate in the circumstances or that all persons involved have not consented to the mediation and advise of the right to lodge an external complaint or appeal.

The mediation will be referred to the Australian Mediation Association. The Australian Mediation Association charges $440 per hour (excluding GST) for a minimum of seven (7) hours. Any costs associated with the mediation shall be borne in equal proportions between all parties, except for any legal costs which shall be borne by the party who engages the legal service.

Step 7: External agencies

A person may take their complaint or appeal to any of the following external agencies if the Chief Executive Officer is reasonably satisfied that mediation would not be practicable nor appropriate in the circumstances, if all persons involved have not consented to the mediation or if mediation fails to resolve the complaint or appeal.

In most instances, the external agency may require the complainant to follow this Complaints and Appeals Policy and Procedures prior to lodging a complaint or appeal with them, unless doing so would disadvantage the person.
